

Jenna McCuaig

Jeanna's clinical research focusses on improving access to genetic testing and streamlining genetic counselling and testing processes for patients with cancer. Jeanna has published several articles regarding alternative models of genetic testing for hereditary cancer, including mainstreaming and tumour-first models of care.